MTA LIRR St. Albans Westbound Service Affected by Construction Work Weekends of September 22 and September 29

Westbound train service at the MTA Long Island Rail Road's St. Albans Station will be temporarily suspended on the weekends of September 22 through early September 24 and September 29 through early October 1. Eastbound train service to and from St. Albans will not be affected and normal train service will be restored in time for the Monday morning rush hour on both weekends.

Beginning at 7 AM, on Saturday, September 22 through 2 AM, on Monday, September 24 and again from 7 AM, Saturday, September 29 through 2 AM, Monday, October 1, westbound St. Albans customers will board vans for connecting train service at Jamaica. Customers should anticipate up to 20 minutes additional travel time. Customers traveling westbound from stations Babylon through Rockville Centre to St. Albans will transfer to vans at Jamaica to complete their trips to St. Albans. Customers should anticipate up to 31 minutes additional travel time.

Construction work on one of the Jamaica Station platforms, affecting the placement of westbound St. Albans trains, is the reason for the service change.
