Service Advisory: NYC Transit and MTA Bus Detours During 9/11 Memorial Service

On Thursday morning, September 11, 2008, there will be a Memorial Service for victims of 9/11 in downtown Manhattan. Buses that usually travel along Trinity Place between Battery Place and Church Street and on Church Street between Liberty and Vesey Streets will be affected from 12:01 a.m. through the day until the ceremonies have ended.

The Manhattan-bound X27, X28 and X29 buses will travel via the Brooklyn Battery Tunnel, turn right on West street, right on Warren Street and left on Church Street. The M1, M5 and M6 buses will make stops on West Street at Carlisle Street and Murray Street. No other stops will be made until the buses are back on the regular routes.

East-bound BM1, BM2, BM3, BM4, QM1, QM1A, QM11, QM25 and the north-bound BxM18 will have the following changes: The Greenwich Street at Morris Street bus stop will be made on West Street at Carlisle Street. The Park Place at Church Street bus stop, the Church Street at Cortlandt Street bus stop and the Church Street at Dey Street bus stop will be made on West Street at Murray Street.

West-bound BM1, BM2, BM3, BM4, QM1, QM1A, QM11, and QM24 will have the following changes: The Greenwich Street at Morris Street bus stop will be made on West Street at Carlisle Street. The Church Street at Cortlandt Street bus stop and the Church Street at Dey Street bus stop will be made on West Street at Murray Street.
