New Timetables Coming for Port Jervis and Pascack Valley Lines

Spring track work on the Northeast Corridor will require numerous timetable adjustments to Port Jervis and Pascack Valley line schedules. So be sure to pick up a new schedule for specific changes coming on May 11.

To allow Amtrak forces to replace concrete ties, departure and connection times are changing for Amtrak, NJTransit and for New York State customers on the Port Jervis and Pascack Valley lines.

Port Jervis Line

The 4:43 p.m. from Penn Station (4:50 p.m. departure from Hoboken) will depart Penn Station seven minutes earlier and Hoboken three minutes earlier. The trip from New York to Port Jervis will be six minutes longer.

A number of minor departure time changes are being made to weekday trains, ranging from four minutes earlier to three minutes later. Changes to weekend train times vary from one minute earlier to three minutes later.

An extra getaway train will operate on the Fridays before the Memorial Day, Independence Day and Labor Day weekends.

Pascack Valley Line

The 4:52 p.m. from Penn Station (5:03 p.m. departure from Hoboken) will depart Penn Station nine minutes earlier and leave Hoboken five minutes earlier. The overall trip will take four minutes longer.

The 5:33 p.m. out of Penn Station (5:40 p.m. out of Hoboken) will depart five minutes earlier but the trip times will remain the same.

In addition, a number of minor changes to departure times will be made to weekday and weekend trains ranging from five minutes earlier to one minute later.

An additional stop at Oradell, NJ is being added to the weekday evening outbound that departs Penn Station at 5:56 p.m. (and Hoboken at 6:04 p.m.)
