MTA Metro-North Railroad Introduces New Lionel Train Set to Honor its 25th Anniversary

Commemorative M-7 Electric Set Will Debut at Harmon Open House

MTA Metro-North Railroad is introducing a commemorative model train set in honor of its 25th anniversary. The Lionel brand, O-scale, M-7 electric train set will be on display for the first time this Saturday at the annual Harmon Open House.

The first-ever Metro-North O-Scale model train set will be available for purchase through reservation/pre-order beginning at the Open House and at the Transit Museum in time for holiday delivery.

The set includes one powered M-7 car with electronic horn, three M-7 non-powered cars, each with illuminated interiors and manual doors that slide open, plus 12 railroad trailblazing signs, six railroad-themed figurines, one PowerMax Transformer, 40-inch by 60-inch oval of FasTrack, including eight curved sections, three straight sections and one power terminal section. The set sells for $279.99. Under the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's licensing agreement with Lionel, all proceeds go to the Transit Museum.

A wide variety of accessories also are available including the Add-on 2 car-pack with two non-powered cars. A Metro-North branded passenger station, a station platform with canopy and a lighted billboard complete the options.

Quantities are limited and these are sure to be collector's items with model railroad enthusiasts.

When your order comes in, you will have to pick it up at the Transit Museum annex, located in Grand Central Terminal. Or you can purchase the set online at www.lionel.com, where you will be directed to other dealers who carry the model train set.

The Metro-North M-7 toy train set makes a great holiday gift, even if it's for you!
