The Best Way to the St. Patrick's Day Parade

New York City's 247th annual St. Patrick's Day Parade steps off on Monday, March 17th and what better way to have a hassle free day than to travel on MTA Metro-North Railroad.

The parade route is an easy walk from Grand Central Terminal, so take the train to avoid traffic and parking woes and have a safe ride home after the daylong festivities.

In addition to its full weekday schedule, Metro-North will operate an additional Hudson Line train that departs Poughkeepsie at 8:41 AM, and an additional Harlem Line train that departs Southeast at 9:05 AM. Additional cars also will be added to select trains to accommodate extra customers.

Reminder: No open containers will be allowed on Metro-North trains on parade day and the MTA Police will be enforcing this ban.

For train information, dial 800-METRO-INFO (800-638-7646), outside of NYC dial 212-532-4900, or visit the web site at www.mta.info. The hearing impaired may call (via teleprinter) at 800-724-3322.
