MTA New York City Transit Modifies Southbound M2, M3 and M5 Bus Routes at 25th Street

MTA New York City Transit officials announced that the southbound M2, M3 and M5 buses no longer turn onto West 25th Street off 5th Avenue, but instead remain on 5th Avenue until they turn off at East 8th Street.

This permanent route change, which is already in effect, is necessitated by street work being carried out by New York City Department of Transportation. As a result, the bus stop at Broadway/24th Street is no longer utilized by the M2, M3 and M5 routes.

Customers who need assistance with their travel itineraries may call our Travel Information Center at 718-330-1234 between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. daily, or log onto NYC Transit's online itinerary service, Trip Planner, for customized directions at <http://tripplanner.mta.info>.
