7 Post Game Express Now Stops at Court Square on Game Nights

Beginning tonight immediately after the Mets game, Manhattan-bound 7 Express trains will make one additional stop at the 45th Rd./Court House Square Station. The station, located in Long Island City, will be added to Post Game Express stops at Willets Point, 61st Street/Woodside, Queensboro Plaza, Grand Central, Fifth Avenue and Times Square.

"Post-game express service started up last July and has been a major league hit with riders. The request for an additional stop came up several times during our meet and greets with customers," noted 7 Line General Manager Louis Brusati. "Aside from serving one additional station in Queens, it will give homeward-bound fans the opportunity to transfer directly to the G Line.

Express trains leave Willets Point shortly after the conclusion of each home game and the service runs until about one hour after the game. Express trains are queued outside of Willets Point and arrive on the middle track every six minutes. The travel time between Willets Point/Shea Stadium and Queensboro Plaza has also been shortened by about six minutes compared with the local.

Customers needing help with travel plans to and from Shea Stadium may call our Travel Information Center at 718-330-1234 from 6:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. daily, or visit www.mta.info to use the Trip Planner feature.
