Take MTA Metro-North Railroad To The Dutchess County Fair

MTA Metro-North Railroad offers discounts to the ideal country holiday - the 164th Dutchess County Fair in picturesque Rhinebeck. This six-day event, August 25-30, is the largest county fair in New York State and boasts 160 acres of exhibits and competitions from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

It's all there: horticulture displays and contests, farm animals from miniature rabbits to immense Percheron horses and everything in between, the popular Antiques Village, craft displays and vendors, petting zoos and a host of other family activities, including grandstand shows featuring top entertainers and one of America's premier traveling carnivals.

The food alone is worth the trip! If you've never been to a real country fair, don't waste another minute. For details, visit www.dutchessfair.com, or call 845-876-4001.

The package includes discount round-trip rail fare and admission to the fair. Take the Hudson Line to Poughkeepsie Station. From there, catch the Dutchess Loop bus to and from the fairgrounds. After a big day at the fair, you can and your kids can nap on the way home!

From Grand Central Terminal or Harlem-125th Street: adults, $33.50; seniors, $28.50; children 5-11, $1.50; children under 5 are free. Save an additional 5% on rail fare when you purchase the package through WebTicket.
