Brooklyn Bus Service Advisory B25, B26, B38, B52, B54, B61 & B65 Buses Rerouted for Fulton Mall Reconstruction Project (Phase II)

The Fulton Mall Reconstruction Project is moving into its second and final phase. As a result, beginning Monday, August 9, the Fulton Mall between Jay/Smith Streets and Flatbush Avenue will be closed in both directions for construction for approximately six weeks. This work is being done by the New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC), and will affect several bus routes on Fulton Street.

The B25, B26, B38 & B52 buses will be detoured off Fulton Street onto Livingston Street in the vicinity, and will make corresponding bus stops on Livingston Street. Also, the eastbound B54 bus will travel from the Fulton Mall onto Adams Street, Tillary Street, Flatbush Avenue to Myrtle Avenue on its regular route. The westbound B54 is unaffected during this phase.

On a positive note, the B61 & B65 buses will return to their regular routes and the terminal will be moved back one block north to its original location at Smith Street.
