No Weekend AC Service at Fulton Street/Broadway-Nassau Station

No Transfers Available Between A, 23, or 45

Due to ongoing construction of the Fulton Street Transit Center, there will be no A or C service at the complex for the weekends of March 6-8 and March 13-15 from 12:01 a.m. Saturday to 5 a.m. Monday. The Manhattan-bound A is operating via the F line between Jay and West 4th Streets; the Queens-bound A will bypass Fulton Street/Broadway-Nassau; there is no C service.

In addition, there are no transfers available between the A, 23 or 45 at the station. In Manhattan, free transfers are available between 45 trains at Fulton Street and Queens-bound A and E23 trains at the World Trade Center/Chambers Street/Park Place stations. Customers must exit and re-enter the subway system when making this connection. No fare will be charged on re-entry. In Brooklyn, customers should use the Nevins Street station to transfer between the 23 and 4 trains. Customers should look for way-finding signs. In addition, extra station personnel will be on duty to direct customers.

Some of the work being done during these weekends includes reinforcing existing and installing additional ceiling beams that run for virtually the entire width of the AC platform. There will also be elevator work, which consists of digging the pits on the AC platform and at least partially constructing the shafts up through all levels of the station.

MTA NYC Transit apologizes for any inconvenience to our customers. Service changes at Fulton Street-Broadway Nassau station will continue for most weekends through October. As weekends approach, customers should look for in-station posters or call NYC Transit's Travel Information Center at 718 330 1234 or log on at www.mta.info for alternate routes, out of station transfers and other information.
