College Football Is at Yankee Stadium for the First Time in Decades;

Let Metro-North Take You There

Yankee Stadium is hosting a college football game for the first time in decades with Army taking on Notre Dame on Saturday, November 20. Just like with Yankee games, the best way to get to the game is with MTA Metro-North Railroad's special game-day service. Avoid the traffic hassles, parking fees and tolls. Sit back, relax, and take the train to the game!

Football fans now get to try out Metro-North's convenient, safe and reliable service that has provided more than a million rides for Yankee Stadium baseball fans.

On the Hudson Line there will be one extra train, departing Poughkeepsie at 4:25 PM. making stops at New Hamburg, Beacon, Peekskill, Croton-Harmon and Tarrytown and arriving at Yankees-East 153rd Street at 5:42 PM.

In addition, five regular Hudson Line trains will make an extra stop for the game. Check the Metro-North schedules page at mta.info \(http://as0.mta.info/mnr/schedules/sched_form.cfm\) for specifics.

From the game, on the Hudson line there will be two special trains, one making local stops to Croton-Harmon and the other running express to Croton-Harmon, then local to Poughkeepsie. In addition, seven regular Hudson Line trains also will make an extra stop at Yankees-East 153rd Street after the game to take fans home.

On the Harlem Line, Metro-North is running two extra football specials. They depart Southeast at 4:05 PM. and 5:05 PM making stops at Brewster, Goldens Bridge, Mount Kisco, Chappaqua, North White Plains, White Plains, Hartsdale, Scarsdale, Crestwood, and Bronxville arriving at Yankees-East 153rd Street at 5:24 PM and 6:24PM respectively.

After the game, Metro-North will operate two Harlem Line football specials, departing 20 to 45 minutes after the game and make the same stops.

On the New Haven Line, Metro-North is operating three direct football trains. Two trains depart New Haven, one at 3:40 PM and one at 4:16 PM, making most local stops to Stamford then run express to Yankees-East 153rd Street station arriving at 5:18 PM and 5:52 PM respectively. One train departs Stamford at 4:44 PM making all local stops through Mount Vernon East arriving Yankees-East 153rd Street station at 5:42 PM.

Returning on the New Haven Line, there will be three direct trains, departing 20 to 45 minutes after the game. One train will run express to Stamford, and then make all local stops to New Haven. One will make all local stops from Mount Vernon East to Stamford and one will make all local stops from Mount Vernon East to New Haven.

Harlem and New Haven Line customers also can take any train to Harlem-125th Street and transfer to a game-day shuttle train which will operate continuously between 4:00 PM and 7:30 PM.

During and after the game, people can depart the stadium for Harlem-125th Street and Grand Central Terminal every 20-to-30 minutes. These are in addition to the direct train service.
