LIRR

IMMEDIATE

New LIRR Timetables Go Into Effect On Monday, March 7

Highlights Include:

Eastbound Afternoon Service Added for Hampton Bays Station

Restoration of Weekend Half-Hourly Service on Babylon Branch

Change in Stopping Pattern on 2 Babylon Branch Afternoon Trains

Off-Peak Changes on Montauk, Main Line for Track Work

New MTA Long Island Rail Road timetables go into effect Monday, March 7 continuing through May 16. Highlights include adding a Hampton Bays stop to the schedule of the eastbound 4:06 PM train from Hunterspoint and the restoration of weekend service on the Babylon Branch. Other changes include weekday schedule adjustments for midday track work on the Main Line and on the Montauk Branch and changes to the stopping pattern on two Babylon Branch eastbound afternoon trains.

On weekdays during this new timetable period, one of two main tracks on the LIRR's Main Line between Merillon Ave. and Carle Place will be out of service for the installation of new track ties. With one track out of service between the AM and PM Peak periods, five midday eastbound Huntington trains will depart Penn Station three minutes later than usual and five eastbound midday Babylon trains will leave Penn Station four minutes earlier than usual.

Similar weekday track tie work along the Montauk branch between Babylon and Sayville will result in the cancellation of three midday eastbound and three westbound trains from Patchogue and one afternoon westbound train from Speonk. Customers at these stations will be served by substitute buses or other Montauk branch trains.

The track work along the Main Line and Montauk Branches results in the following changes:

Babylon Branch Service Adjustments

Weekend service on the Babylon Branch will be restored to a half-hourly schedule with the completion of the current track work between Amityville and Babylon. Weekend express service from Babylon to Jamaica is also being restored.

Stopping patterns of the 3:03 PM and the 3:22 PM eastbound trains from Penn Station to Babylon will be changed. Stops at St. Albans, Amityville, Copiague and Lindenhurst will be dropped from the 3:03 PM train and added to the schedule of the 3:21 PM train. Massapequa Park has also been added to the 3:21 train to make local travel easier.

April 9-10 weekend

Babylon Branch customers are also advised that there will be service adjustments over the weekend of April 9-10 as the LIRR undertakes its latest modernization project, the cutover at Wantagh and Amityville to a state-of-the-art, microprocessor-based signal system. Schedule adjustments for the outage weekend will come in a separate press release.

Customers should pick up a copy of the new March 7 - May 16 timetables at their stations or at all terminals. For the latest information on train service, customers should go to www.mta.info or monitor LIRR service alerts via email.
