Service Update for Morning Rush Hour

The MTA is working hard to restore service in the aftermath of a storm that dumped more than a foot of snow in parts of the region. Service is suspended in parts of the system as crews work to remove snow and ice from tracks, switches, and roadways. Below is information by agency for the morning rush hour. Please check back to MTA.info for the latest updates, allow extra time and be careful when walking and boarding.

New York City Subway

The majority of the subway system is operating, but service has been suspended on outdoor portions of a number of our subway lines. These lines will most likely remain suspended through the morning rush hour:

The B line

The Q line

2 between 241 St and 149 St-Grand Concourse

5 between Dyre Av and E 180 St

A between Rockaway Blvd and Far Rockaway

D between 36 St (Brooklyn) and Coney Island

F between Church Av and Coney Island

N between 59 St (Brooklyn) and Coney Island

Franklin Av Shuttle

Rockaway Park Shuttle

Customers should consider using nearby lines that are running, when possible. Most express trains will make local stops.

Buses in New York City and Nassau County

Bus service remains suspended. We hope to restore bus service as road conditions allow. Please stay tuned to MTA.info.

Long Island Rail Road

The LIRR plans to operate a reduced weekday AM Rush schedule. Some westbound AM rush trains will be canceled and trains will be more crowded. Additionally, buses will replace train service east of Speonk on the Montauk Branch and east of Ronkonkoma on the Main Line to Greenport.

Details follow in the attached press release.

Metro-North Railroad

Metro-North's Harlem and Hudson Lines are operating on a Saturday schedule. The New Haven Line, including the New Canaan, Danbury and Waterbury Branches, remains suspended until further notice.

Access-A-Ride and Able-Ride

Access-A-Ride and Able-Ride service is cancelled for today except for trips of medical necessity (e.g., dialysis, radiation treatment or chemotherapy). Customers who need to travel to such an appointment should call reservations in advance.

Bridges and Tunnels

All roadways at MTA Bridges and Tunnels' crossings are open and operating normally at this time. Motorists are asked to allow extra travel time and operate at reduced speeds due to wet roadways.
