Elevator Out of Service at Inwood-207th Street A Station Until Further Notice

Due to a fire in a nearby building which occurred on January 4, 2012, access to the street level Elevator #148 at the 207th Street and Broadway A station remains out of service. New York City Department of Buildings has barricaded the corner for safety reasons while the fire-damaged building is being demolished. We are taking advantage of this opportunity to do preventive maintenance on the unit. The elevator will be restored to service when the Dept. of Buildings deems it is safe to do so and removes the barricades.

Until that time, MTA New York City Transit reminds customers that there are ADA accessible stations at the 168th Street and 175th Street A stations. The M100 and Bx7 travel along Broadway to and from those stations from approximately 4:30 a.m. to just after midnight. The Bx12 operates to and from the ADA accessible station at Fordham Road on the 4 line during the day and through the night.

Customers are encouraged to visit www.mta.info and check the Elevator and Escalator status page for updates.
