Take the MTA LIRR to See the Harlem Globetrotters at Barclays Center in Brooklyn on Sunday, October 7 and Save $7 on Every Game Ticket You Buy

For the world famous Harlem Globetrotters, it was "All aboard!" MTA Long Island Rail Road today to tell Long Islanders that the LIRR is the best way get to the new Barclays Center in Brooklyn to see the team entertain on Sunday, October 7 at 5 PM.

Globetrotters Hammer Harrison, Big Easy Lofton, TNT Maddox, Buckets Blakes, Bull Bullard and even Globie, the team mascot, took the 1:13 PM train from Jamaica to Atlantic Terminal, Brooklyn, signing autographs, posing for photos and making sure that LIRR customers knew that they could save $7 on every ticket they purchased for the Globetrotters first-ever appearance in the borough of Brooklyn.

No team handles the basketball better than the Harlem Globetrotters and no one can do a better job than the Long Island Rail Road getting people to the Globetrotters' game and other upcoming events at Barclays Center, including extra late night trains when needed. A Harlem Globetrotters appearance is always a great family outing. Take the LIRR and leave the car at home. Atlantic Terminal puts you right at Barclays Center.
