The busy holiday season is fast approaching and the MTA Long Island Rail Road is ready with additional service to get travelers where they want to be starting with Thanksgiving. Avoid traffic and parking fees by taking the LIRR. Additional trains will operate on Wednesday, November 21 and on Thanksgiving Day, November 22 and, as an extra bonus, off-peak fares will be in effect for the entire four-day holiday weekend.

As a reminder for Long Beach customers, due to the severe flood damage to the electrical substations on the Long Beach Branch and train yard by Superstorm Sandy, the LIRR will be providing diesel shuttle service between Long Beach and Lynbrook on Wednesday, Thanksgiving Eve, and the Friday after Thanksgiving between 5 AM and 9 PM. Shuttle bus service will be provided on Thanksgiving Day and the weekend between Long Beach and Lynbrook from 5 AM to 9 PM. Please consult the LIRR's website at www.mta.info/lirr for details. The LIRR is continuing its work to repair three of four electrical substations damaged by Sandy, along with switches and other vital equipment, to return electric train service back to the branch as soon as possible.

On Black Friday, November 23, traditionally one of the busiest shopping days of the year, the LIRR will run a near-normal weekday train schedule even though off-peak fares will be in effect all day – including the special Family Fare discount. Under the Family Fare program, up to four children, ages 5-11, can ride trains that day for the advance purchase fare of 75 cents each (oneway) when accompanied by a fare-paying parent or guardian. Weekly and monthly ticket holders just pay for the kids. Children under five ride free.

Additionally, the Thanksgiving weekend marks the start of extra weekend trains to make travel to and from New York City a snap for shopping, dining and entertainment. Beginning the Saturday after Thanksgiving and continuing through New Year's Day, customers will find the LIRR the most convenient way to take in all New York has to offer. The added weekend service for the holiday season can be found in new LIRR timetables dated Monday, November 12. The six holiday service weekends are November 24-25, December 1-2, December 8-9, December 15-16, December 22-23 and December 29-30.

So, in the hustle and bustle of the holiday season, relax and leave the driving to the LIRR. To ensure easy rail travel, customers are advised to follow these travel tips:

- Purchase before you go. Round trip tickets, including MetroCards for connecting subway and bus service, can be purchased in advance in order to save time and avoid lines at LIRR ticket windows and New York City Transit MetroCard windows and ticket machines.
