Let the MTA's Railroads Take You to the Boat Show, Motorcycle Show and NYC Restaurant Week

Let the MTA's Railroads Take You to the Boat Show, Motorcycle Show and NYC Restaurant Week

It's January, which means it's time for two great events at the Javits Center: the New York Boat Show and the Progressive International Motorcycle Show. The MTA's railroads can take you to the shows without the stress of driving or the expenses of parking and gas. Getting to the Javits Center is easy, whether you're taking the Long Island Rail Road to Penn Station or Metro-North Railroad to Grand Central Terminal. Also this month, you can enjoy a memorable meal for less, courtesy of NYC Restaurant Week!

Each year, tens of thousands flock to the New York Boat Show to check out the latest in boats and fishing equipment. Visitors can also attend daily seminars with a full slate of top fishing and boating pros. This year it runs from today, Jan. 4, through Jan. 8. For more details, visit nyboatshow.com

Come back later in the month for the Progressive International Motorcycle Show, which runs from Jan. 20-22. It exhibits the latest motorcycle models and accessories including apparel, ATV accessories, fairing and parts, goggles and eyewear, helmets and more. For more details, visit motorcycleshows.com/newyork

While you are in town, enjoy a restaurant you've always wanted to try. You can save money while you're at it during NYC Restaurant Week, which runs from Jan. 16 through Feb. 10. See NYCgo.com for more info.

Getting to the Javits Center

LIRR customers: To reach the Javits Center from Penn Station, walk west to Eleventh Avenue or hop on the M34 bus westbound (the stop is across the street from Penn Station on 34th Street).

Metro-North customers: The Javits Center is just a quick cab ride from Grand Central. Or you can catch the M42 bus westbound to Eleventh Avenue. Then walk four blocks south to reach the Javits Center.
