MTA NYCT Service Advisory: FASTRACK on EFMR Queens Blvd Line Canceled for the Remainder of the Week

The New York City Metropolitan area is seeing snow accumulations and freezing conditions that are expected to continue through Wednesday morning. As a result, FASTRACK on the E F M R Queens Blvd. Line has been canceled for the remainder of the week. This will free up personnel for snow fighting and cleanup after the storm.

Our next FASTRACK overnight closure will be on the 2 3 4 Eastern Parkway Line, between Atlantic Av-Barclays Ctr and Franklin Av beginning Monday night, January 27 and ending early Friday morning, January 31.

MTA customers can get up-to-the-minutes service updates through the service status page at www.mta.info or directly to their cell phones, smart phones or other mobile devices by signing up for service email and text alerts here.
