Take Metro-North to Culinary Hot Spots During Hudson Valley Restaurant Week

Three-Course Dinners for $29.95 or Lunches for $20.95

There is no better time to step off of a train and into a top quality restaurant than during Hudson Valley Restaurant Week! From now through November 16, nearly 70 restaurants participating in Hudson Valley Restaurant Week are just steps away or a short cab ride from Metro-North Railroad stations on the Harlem, Hudson, New Haven and Port Jervis Lines.

The multi-county dining event, now in its 10th year, features nearly 200 restaurants offering three-course dinners for $29.95 and lunches for $20.95 (plus drinks, tax and tip).

While reservations are strongly recommended and often required, diners don't have to worry about passes, tickets or coupons. They can simply choose from a list of restaurants online at http://www.hudsonvalleyrestaurantweek.com/restaurants\_2014.php, then purchase rail tickets to the nearest Metro-North station.

The Hudson Valley prides itself on its agriculture and the use of locally produced ingredients is highlighted in the many culinary offerings. The area has dozens of indoor and outdoor farmers' markets featuring an abundance of fruit and vegetables, in addition to artisanal breads and cheeses.

The region has become highly regarded for its diverse and interesting wine production. Expect to see a number of reds and whites from local wineries featured on dining menus during Hudson Valley Restaurant Week. To stock up on New York State candy, dairy products, spirits, wines, craft beers, sauces, maple syrups and snack foods while away from the dinner table, visit the Taste NY store near Track 37 in Grand Central Terminal.
