Statement from Former Mayor David N. Dinkins

“The subway is the lifeblood of our city. During my time as mayor, I saw firsthand how critical the viability and reliability of the subway system is to New Yorkers and as the economic engine of our city. I am proud to stand with Chairman Lhota and the rest of the Advisory Board as we work together to stabilize and improve the current system. We need all our elected leaders to work together to implement these smart solutions and provide New Yorkers with the safe, reliable and modern subway they deserve.”
