Demolition to Begin on Long Island Rail Road's Little Neck Station Pedestrian Overpass

Entire Parking Lot Will Close in Order to Accommodate Work

Demolition of the MTA Long Island Rail Road's Little Neck Station pedestrian overpass, along the Port Washington Branch, will take place this weekend, starting 6 p.m. Friday night, September 16, and continuing through 12 noon on Saturday, September 17.

The 54-foot steel truss overpass bridge, which links the eastbound and westbound platforms, was installed back in 1989 and is being replaced. Installation of a new prefabricated pedestrian bridge is tentatively scheduled for late October.

In order to accommodate the crane and other equipment required to accomplish the demolition work, complete closure of the Little Neck parking lot is required. All cars must be removed from the lot by 6 p.m. on Friday. Any remaining vehicles will be towed at the owner's expense. Demolition will be completed Saturday morning, and the parking lot will be restored for customer use by Saturday afternoon.

Please note that overnight work will require the use of lighting. A certain amount of demolition-related noise and dust should also be expected. For additional information, call 511 and say "LIRR."
