

Penn Station Access is a critical transportation equity project which will improve reliability, reduce travel time, and expand mass transit options throughout the region.

Parking Lot Clearing at East Tremont Avenue between Bronxdale Avenue and Unionport Road

The Penn Station Access Project is advancing construction for the new Parkchester / Van Nest Station and Substation that will be situated at the parking lot on the northbound side of East Tremont Road between Bronxdale Avenue and Unionport Road. Construction crews have begun by first clearing the lot, drilling to install foundations and reconfiguring the property for the future Parkchester Substation. The pedestrian pathway will be maintained at this location.

Work will begin in July 2024 and continue for the duration of the project.
