Moving Forward!

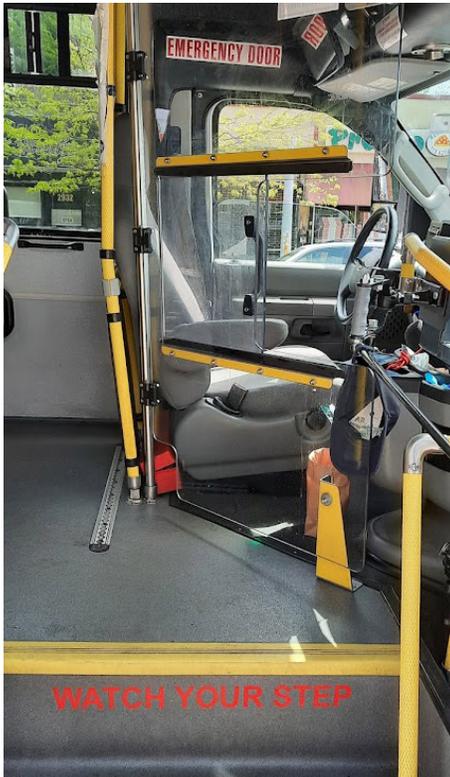

“When ridership was decimated at the height of the pandemic, and service shifted to essential service, our paratransit service never scaled back, so we understand the importance of accessibility. It must and will always remain a core priority,” said Craig Cipriano, Interim President of New York City Transit, at an event held on July 26, 2021 to celebrate the 31st anniversary of the passage of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

AAR customers are returning at a higher rate than that of any other MTA mode of public transportation. Weekday ridership on paratransit is currently around 85% of pre-pandemic levels. We are also proud to announce that the MTA has replaced 40% of its older diesel fleet with gas-powered vehicles that have better lighting, climate control, reliability and maneuverability to the fleet.

We continue to remain vigilant with safety measures designed to protect against the transmission of COVID-19 and to ensure a safe ride for our customers, PCAs, guests and drivers. All dedicated vehicles are disinfected daily and customized permanent polycarbonate driver barriers have been installed on 1,300 dedicated vehicles. Broker services follow similar disinfection requirements. Face coverings are required on all trips for both customers and drivers. We continue to offer special transportation for those customers who are COVID positive or symptomatic.

Paratransit is now providing customers with a larger portion of trips on the Authority's enhanced broker service, which allows for-hire-vehicles and yellow and green taxis to provide Access-A-Ride service. The MTA is expanding broker capacity with the award of a new contract in July. AAR is further improving service through the deployment of a new state-of-the-art scheduling system and moving to the next phase of the popular E-hail On-Demand pilot program.

Moving Forward with Our City

As the City continues its recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic and demand for paratransit service returns to near pre-pandemic levels, AAR resumed shared ride service on Tuesday, July 6th. Shared rides are those that include multiple customers with similar origins and destinations. The decision to resume shared rides was made in accordance with public health guidelines, and follows similar decisions taken by the New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission, as well as by paratransit agencies across the country, including those in Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, and San Francisco.

The resumption of shared ride service enables us to continue meeting demand and making service available to every AAR customer. As we phase shared rides back in, we will make every effort to minimize any impact to trip time and closely monitor service metrics, including customer wait times, vehicle availability and on-time performance. Also, as we gradually return to normal operations, we are pleased to announce that customers are once again able to travel with guests, in addition to their personal care attendant (if approved during eligibility process).

As always, safety remains the key driver in our decision-making process, and we will stay in continuous and close communication with our customers regarding any changes to our service.

The MTA encourages all AAR users and guests to receive the COVID-19 vaccine. Masks continue to be required for operators, customers and their guests, regardless of vaccination status, in all vehicles providing AAR service.

Clad with their masks, MVT driver Antonio assists AAR customer Dorothy Sacks off an AAR vehicle. Mrs. Sacks was celebrating her 99th birthday with her PCA Gwen at a favorite restaurant that reopened this spring as restrictions were lifted across the city and state. The recent retiree, praises all her drivers for their, “kind and professional care!”

Maximum Ride Times

During the state of emergency, our providers could navigate with ease through the boroughs as there was very little traffic.

Now that our city has re-opened and restrictions have been lifted, this summer’s traffic is back to nearly pre-pandemic levels. Therefore, we kindly ask our customers to please remember our 30-minute service window (see “On the Day of Your Trip”) and allow extra time to get to/from your destinations. To also help you determine the time needed to get to/from your destination, please follow the Maximum Ride Times. This is the amount of time you can anticipate traveling, based on trip miles:

| Miles | Maximum Ride Time |
|--------------|--------------------------|
| 0-3 | 50 Minutes |
| 3-6 | 1 hour 5 minutes |
| 6-9 | 1 hour 25 minutes |
| 9-12 | 1 hour 55 minutes |
| 12-14 | 2 hours 15 minutes |
| 14+ | 2 hours 35 minutes |
